Summary

I am a beginner frontend developer. Since the middle of 2020 I have been studying the modern stack, since 2021 I have been working on my own small projects and in 2022 I started to work in a software-development company. At this moment I am working as a junior developer and I rate my skills as junior/junior+ based on theoretical training and practical experience. My goal is to reach Middle-level and understanding of architectural patterns as soon as possible.
